'An American Symbol'

They marked Public Schools Week again this year.

Locally, the Lemon Grove Masonic Lodge sponsors an essay contest for middle-graders in which youngsters are invited to write on varied subjects from time to time.

This year a splendid subject was chosen. It has to do with the symbol of America.

Because there were some mighty fine writings the judges were hard put to choose the ones which best described "An American Symbol".

Our choice was not so hard. We came across an essay that judges had not chosen as a prize winner but it hit us right in our warm heart of patriotism!

It was written by Michele Torrey, a sixth grader at Vista La Mesa school.

She wrote:

What is an American Symbol? What really can symbolize America? What made America as it is today?

Is a statue, a monument or a piece of cloth the truest symbol of America? Is that what made America from the 1700's to now? What lives in America, dies in America, and works in America? The American people. A living representative of our country. A person who can call America his or her home.

The people who did build America in the frontier were independent. They grew their own food and made their own clothes. They lived independently.

Today the advanced technology and working together has made us dependent on each other. One man makes clothes and he is dependent on the farmer to bring him food, while the farmer is depending on the other to make his clothes. We all work together to make the United States a great country.

In the future people and their working together will determine the strength of America. They are the living symbols of Amercia!

It's a fact Michele didn't cop one of the prizes but she ought to be happier to know that this unofficial judge of good writings believes she has caught the spirit as well as the essence of this great country.

Three cheers for Michele!

Old Time Days To Be Fun-Filled, 3-Day Program

Lemon Grove will celebrate it's Centennial Anniversary on May 22, 23 and 24 in conjunction with San Diego's 200th Anniversary.

The three-day celebration will begin when merchants start their annual Old Time Days Sale. Highlighting the events will be a 100 unit parade on May 24.

More than 25,000 persons are expected to pour into the community to see the parade according to James Dorman, president of the Old Time Days Association.

The parade will start at Massachusetts ave. and travel east on Broadway. The marchers will turn south on Kempf st. and disband at School lane.

A costume competition will take place at the Mayfair parking lot directly after the parade. Children from pre-school age to 12 years-old will be in competition.

Other activities slated for the three-day gala include a fish Fry at the Lemon Grove Moose Lodge No. 1713, at 7375 Broadway, May 23 from 5:30-9 p.m. and a square dance at the Lemon Grove Woman's Club, May 24. Dancing will start at 8 p.m. and end at 11 p.m.

The St. Philips Church located at the corner of Palm ave. and Hardy will host a Big Western Beef Barbecue on May 24 from noon to 7 p.m. The Episcopal Church will also enter a float in the parade.

L.G. Cleanup Days Listed

The Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce official meeting didn't quite come off because there was not a quorum but they transacted some rather important business in any event.

Acting president Bob Russell said that the business community was invited to participate in a clean-up week-end to make ready for Old Time Days.

Clean-up Days are Thursday, Friday and Saturday, May 15-17. Trucks will be called to carry the debris to the dump, Russell said.

He urged all resident to chop weeds, clean debris and help the community present a clean face for Old Time Days when several thousand visitors will converge on Lemon Grove.

Murdock Defends 'Sensitivity' Program In Spring Valley

Glenn Murdock, La Mesa-Spring Valley school district superintendent, told the school board Monday night that the same group which attacked school prayer issue several years ago will be attacking the district's sensitivity training program.

In the program, youngsters are encouraged to discuss family problems and to criticize each others faults and shortcomings, according to complainants.

Murdock said the program was designed by a San Diego State instructor who insists that it is not sensitivity training in the sense that it has been publicized and criticized.

Murdock said that rumors and false information had created severe problems concerning the district's sex education program. He said that there is no secret program; the program is proper and responsible; the State Board of Education's guidelines will be used for program development, and that anyone who wishes may see the training films.

Ambulance For Lemon Grove Is Soroptimist Club Plea

"Excessive cost and slow service" by privately operated ambulances make the need for a Lemon Grove Fire Department operated ambulance necessary, Mrs. Bernadine Southard told the board of directors of the L. G. Fire Department last week.

Mrs. Southard, accompanied by a committee of eight other women representing the L. G. Soroptimist club, provided the board with the results of a survey the club made among surrounding fire departments to show the feasibility of such service. The presentation and request was made at the regular meeting of the fire directors April 28.

L. G. Assistant Fire Chief Fred Dixon said he would recommend hiring five more men if ambulance service must be provided. These would fill two-man shifts and provide a relief man. With the cost of an ambulance, the first year's expenses would be $62,946, he said.

Added personnel would be a requirement of the Insurance Underwriting Rating Board for maintaining a 4-Rating the District presently enjoys. Only one rating is better than that Lemon Grove has. This is usually given to cities such as San Diego. Fire ratings controls insurance rates citizens of a specific District are required to pay.

Ambulance service, with extra personnel, would cost local property owners 20c more in taxes for each $100 in assessed valuation — but it would keep insurance rates the same, Dixon pointed out.

Mrs. Southard told this publication that the Lemon Grove Fire Department is undermanned and that the directors did not approve additional manpower because they were attempting to keep the tax rate down. One director said the mission of the Department is fire suppression and that the board had attempted to provide the most efficient department possible at the lowest cost to the taxpayer. The fire tax rate in Lemon Grove is 74c. The average in surrounding districts, he said, said, is $1.

Mrs. Southard provided a study comparison of manpower-to-population made by the Soroptimist club. It showed that most districts have one fireman for each 1,000 population. Lemon Grove has 17 men for 30,000 residents, she said.

Some comparisons are: Vista, 33,000 population—31 men; El Cajon, 48,750 and 50; Escondido, 33,000 and 33; La Mesa, 39,000 and 40; Spring Valley, 36,000 and 29, and Poway, 13,000 and 44 men.

"We need additional manpower for the Department and we need to face up to the cost of getting it," she said.

She said the Soroptimist club had agreed to sponsor an educational program by which the public would be fully informed on the need of additional men and the cost of the ambulance service.

"We suggested that a flat $20-a-call should be made for the use of the ambulance. This would help defray the cost of the equipment," she said.

She said that residents at present are paying $50-$60 for the service from private ambulance operators.

"Private operators usually use college kids to man their ambulances. In the Soroptimist proposal, the Fire Department ambulance would be manned by personnel trained in life saving," she pointed out.

The Soroptimist club proposed to obtain a government surplus ambulance and supply funds for refurbishing it. Local firemen would do the work, she said.

The Soroptimist study showed that Spring Valley's ambulance made 500 calls last year. A $20 charge is being made by Spring Valley starting this month.

Other comparative districts are making 110 to 600 trips a year. 65 resuscitation calls were placed last year in Lemon Grove through the Fire Department, she said.

"Our club feels that there will be more men hired by the L.G. Fire Department eventually and that the tax rate is going up.

"What we are attempting to do now is to get these additional men assigned to double duty. As firemen, they could also man the ambulance as the resuscitator unit, owned by the department, is now being manned," she added.

The women's group plans to circulate a petition to show the Board the demand for an ambulance here exists, Mrs. Southard said.

Record Budget May Provide More Deputies For L.G./S.V.

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — Three added sheriff's patrols are recommended for the Lemon Grove substation in the county's proposed budget for fiscal year 1969-70.

Chief Administrative Officer Fred Morey said that the Sheriff will need seven men to beef up the present coverage in Bonita-Lincoln Acres, Spring Valley-Mt. Helix and Casa de Oro-Jamul.

A sergeant, two dectives and two deputies for relief duty have also been suggested for the Lemon Grove post.

The recommended budget is $202 million and, as usual, is a record. It is $42 million higher than last year of 26 percent.

However, the proposed budget is also a working document. Last year, the board of supervisors was able to trim $4 million before adopting the final budget with a two cent tax reduction.

Morey told the board that "no significant increase" in the property tax rate ($2.37 this year) is expected, but he did not explain what he meant by "significant."

An increase of about seven cents is built into the budget to make up for revenue lost by the passage of Proposition 1-A which eliminated the tax on household furnishings.

Morey said that as of now there is a tax gap of some 35 cents, but this figure is not far from the gap at the same point in time for this year's budget.

The items that will hit hardest on the property tax are general government, up $5,590,262, and public protection, up $4,420,515.

TO THE GIRLS OF TROOP 314 — An American soldier in Vietnam heard about the Troop when he came across a discarded copy of the LEMON GROVE REVIEW. Read his letter in the story below. Lonely Soldier in Vietnam Brightens Day for Troop 314

A loney American soldier has become a "pen-pal" of a sort to a Girl Scout Troop in Lemon Grove. It started when he retrieved a copy of the newspaper and was inspired by the fact that the Ladies Auxiliary of L.G. VFW Post 2082 had presented an American flag to Scout Troop 314.

The soldier, SP/5 Raymond H. Curtis Jr., sent with the letter six Vietnamese coins and three pieces of Vietnamese currency. None of the girls had ever heard of SP/5 Curtis before but they treasure the money he sent — and vowed never to spend it.

SP/5 Curtis tells it as well as it could be told, so the letter is reprinted here.

It reads:

"Dear Girls of Troop 314,

"I am writing to you here in the Republic of Vietnam. I have been over here in Vietnam for almost a year. A friend of mine who receives your hometown newspaper, THE LEMON GROVE REVIEW, had thrown away one of the editions of the newspaper, and I asked him to allow me to read it. I read the paper and on page 4 I saw the article in it about your troop receiving an American Flag from the Ladies Auxiliary of Lemon Grove Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 2082. I thought this was very nice of the ladies of Post 2082 and decided to add to this gift.

"I am sending in this first letter some pieces of the Vietnamese money used here in Vietnam. The Vietnamese people use paper and metal money as we do in the United States. The green paper bill marked "20" is a 20 piaster bill. 20 piasters is equivalent to about 17 cents in our money. The purple bill marked "100" is a 100 piaster bill equal to about 90 cents in our money. Also the coin marked "5" is the same as our nickel. The coin marked "10" is the same as a dime, and the coin marked "20" is the same as 17 cents in our money. I hope that you will like these gifts and so that everyone will be able to see them, I suggest that you start a board in your troop den with title, "The Vietnamese People". I plan to send to you all different items that will be of interest to you and at the same time, you will be able to understand and get to know the customs and ways of people from other countries.

"If any of you would like to write to me and ask me anything about Vietnam and the people here or a letter

Old Time Days 'Jail' Plotted For Beardless

The L.G. Rotary Club is planning to "hold court" in the streets on the day of Lemon Grove's Old Time Days Parade on May 24, Male citizens over the age of 21 may be apprehended and incarcerated in a make-shift pokey constructed by the Club's president, Eugene Mouillesseaux.

Chairman of the project, Harry Sorteberg, D.D.S., warns that to avoid incarceration, men must present at least a growth of sideburns to the bottom of the ear lobe, and any additional mustache or beard growth will be helpful in avoiding the penalty.

"Inasmuch as the Rotary Club has no official judicial stature, it will be impossible to assess fines or set bail," Sorteberg says, "but the jail marshals who will be members of the Rotary Club will be amenable to accepting bribes of about one dollar to effect release".

"This is the first time in the six-year history of the Old Time celebration in Lemon Grope that beard growing has been encouraged," according to Sorteberg, "but we certainly feel it is high time."

Valley Man Gets 30-Day Jail Term

A Spring Valley man, Douglas Hughes Jr., 22, of 3401 Bancroft st., was sentenced May 5 to 30 days in the county jail as a condition of three years' probation for attempted robbers of a bus driver.

Term was imposed by Superior Court Judge Roger S. Ruffin after Hughes had pleaded guilty to the charge.

According to a probation report, Hughes was arrested after he tried to take a driver's fare box as he was getting off near Lincoln High School.

A struggle ensued between

Always and Everywhere

Let no one imagine that it is a strained and unnatural thing for one to pray. The contrary is much closer to the fact. It is far more unnatural for one not to pray. Prayer is one of the most natural of human instincts. Prayer is man's response to the divine will.

First Charge Conference Here Tonight

Dr. Russell Robinson, district superintendent of the Southern California-Arizona, Hawaii Conference of the United Methodist church will conduct the first Charge Conference of the United Methodist Church of Lemon Grove tonight at 7:30 p.m.

The Charge Conference replaces the former Fourth Quarter Conference report system. The change evolves from the unification of the Methodist church with the Evangelical United Brethern church thus requiring an amended style of reporting.

Reports, according to local church officials, will show that the Lemon Grove church has enjoyed an outstanding year.

The Report Committee said it would show:

An increase of 100% in attendance and activity;

An increase of 12% in contributions;

The largest single worship service in the history of the church;

A revised and expanded community involvement-centered youth program;

Dedication of the church's social hall to honor the church's first pastor: the Rev. Donald B. Cooke with appropriate ceremony;

Refurbishing the education and social hall unit, and the recommendation of a member, Steven Rosemary, to the office of Local Preacher — the first step to becoming an ordained Methodist minister.

The church is located at Washington and Golden. The pastor is Thomas Parnell Warmer.

Balboa Park Carillon To Ring For Mothers

Balboa Park's famed carillon will serenade Mother's Day, May 11 with a special program at 1 p.m. played by Paul Peery and sponsored by the San Diego Recreation Department.

Guidance, Placement Program at Grossmont Aid Students' Career

Grosmont College has recently become the fourth two-year college in the nation to participate in the new Comparative Guidance and Placement Program (CGP) developed by the College Entrance Examination Board and Educational Testing Service specifically for two-year colleges.

CGP is a program designed to aid students in making their educational and vocational plans. A Grossmont College student, for example, may choose from a variety of programs including art and photography, biological sciences, business, engineering technology, as well as occupational or transfer curricula. Data collected from the various tests and questionnaires of CGP which measure the student's background, interests, and abilities will improve the student's chances of making the right decision concerning his course of study and eventually his career.

Results of the CGP tests and questionnaires will also serve to aid the counseling staff in placing students in appropriate courses that are relevant to the students' needs as well as identifying students who may require financial assistance to continue their education.

Less course dissatisfaction, fewer dropouts, and fewer mistaken career choices among students are the anticipated results of the new placement and testing program, according to Laurance E. Coons, Grossmont College's dean of guidance services.

DON'T RUSH OUT AND RUN MILE

Old Men Regain Vigor Through Care Planned Exercise Program

Men in their seventies can regain much of the vigor and physical function of their forties through carefully planned exercise, a University of Southern California research study shows.

But don't rush out and run a mile.

Exercise should be prescribed for individuals with the same care and certainty a physician uses in choosinv drugs for patients, according to USC's Dr. Herbet A. deVries, an authority on the physiology of exercise.

DeVries, working under auspices of USC's Gerontology Center, is studying the effects of exercise on a group of men, aged 50 to 87, who live in and around Laguna Hills Leisure World in Laguna Beach.

At this point, after more than a year of study, the USC researcher reports these dramatic results in group averages among men who are participating in his carefully controlled program of exercise:

- Diastolic blood pressure has been improved by 6 per cent.
- Body fat has decreased 4.8 per cent.
- Maximum oxygen consumption, the best single measure of an individual's vigor, increased by 9.2 per cent.
- Oxygen pulse, a measure of cardio-vascular function, improved by 8.4 per cent.
- Arm strength increased by 7.2 per cent.
- Other indicators of working capacity showed a 7 to 9 per cent improvement.

One of the greatest and most significant changes that occurred in the men as the result of the exercise program is a drop in nervous tension level, Dr. deVries reports.

"In our 41 experimental subjects who have participated in the exercise program, there has been a reduction at rest of 14 to 15 per cent in nervous tension," says the USC educator.

"This is compared to the control group of non-exercisers, who experienced a slight increase in nervous tension.

"Reduction of nervous tension has been a neglected area in physical education, and this is serious because of the significance of tension as a potential threat to good health, particularly in the middle-aged and elderly," he adds.

It has been deVries' contention that some portion of the physical decline that accompanies old age is due at least in part to physical inactivity and is therefore unnecessary.

His research is proving the accuracy of that hypothesis.

A major goal in addition to measuring the results of exercise itself is developing a "pharmacopoeia" of exercise—a body of knowledge on which to base individual prescriptions for exercise is as available to any physician in prescribing drugs.

"If, at the end of the research, we have developed at least a beginning of our 'pharmacopoeia of exercise,' we will have accomplished what we set out to do," Dr. deVries says.

The importance of being able to prescribe exercise is pointed up in the hazards that exist in it for some persons, he says.

The presence of some level of arterial sclerosis, incipient heart disease, or other ailment unknown to the person can make bursts of unsupervised exercise a potential killer.

Dr. deVries cited as evidence for this observation a number of deaths from jogging during recent months in Orange County.

"It would appear that the individuals who died after the heavy exercise had not had the benefit of either a preliminary medical exam or skilled supervision with a scientifically-based plan of attack," he adds.

To insure against hazards in his research project, each subject was extensively screened and tested for several months before the exercise portion of the program was begun.

Tests included a comprehensive physical, and a battery of tests administered by deVries and his staff, covering the full spectrum of physiological functions and capacities of the subjects at rest and during physical activity of various kinds.

Subjects in the program work out for one hour three days a week. Their routine includes calisthenics, jogging, static stretching, and aquatics. They are tested at the beginning, and at intervals of six, 18 and 42 weeks for improvement.

DeVries says the participants are particularly enthusiastic when, for example, he is able to tell a man in his seventies that his tests show that his cariac output, blood pressure, oxygen consumption, nervous tension level or other parameters are comparable to the norm for a 40-year-old.

Because his goals necessitate pioneering efforts, deVries has found it essential to develop his own measurement tests and new measurement equipment for his research.

An example of this is what he calls the PEP (Physiological Efficiency Profile) Test, which he developed in association with an assistant, Dr. Kenneth Lersten.

Factors measured by the PEP Test include blood pressure, maximal oxygen consumption estimated from submaximal performance, body composition, nervous tension and muscle tonus.

He has also developed a device which measures nervous tension levels electro-myographically, that is, it determines the electrical activity of the muscles to mark the extent of nervous tension the subject is experiencing.

This equipment and other instrumentation is housed in a specially-designed mobile laboratory located at present at the Laguna Hills site.

DeVries' research project is funded by a grant from the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare's Administration on Aging.

Devries is seeking additional male volunteers, 50 or older, for an experimental group of exercisers for the final phase of the program beginning in the near future. The only expense for participants is the cost of the preliminary medical examination.

Applications will be accepted beginning now or a limited period of time. Further information can be obtained by contacting deVries at the Mobile Research Laboratory, telephone (714) 830-0350.

DeVries, who is a professor in USC's Department of Physical Education in addition to his duties as head of the physiology of exercise research and training segment at UCS's interdisciplinary Gerontology Center, joined the university faculty in 1965.

He earned the bachelor's degree at Pennsylvania State College at East Stroudsburg, the master's at the University of Texas, and the Ph.D. at USC.

He lives at 32194 Vista de la luna, South Laguna, Calif.

Learn Spanish the Easy Way

Hardison's Telespanish

by James Hardison

Is it true that the word Mexico was at one time written with a "j" instead of an "x?" If this is so, when and how did the change in the spelling occur? Also, are there other Spanish words which contained "j's" in their original spelling and were replaced by "x's?"

During the colonial period, the time when Mexico was occupied and controlled by the Spaniards, the word Mexico was written — Mejico. The Spaniards used the letter "j" to signify the sound of the harsh "h" and pronounced Mejico phonetically, "MEH-he-koh." The letter "j" became closely associated with the Spanish colonist. Place names of Indian origin were assigned Spanish spelling and reflected a high usage of the letter "j."

Names like Oaxaco and Texas were at one time given the spelling "Oajaca" and "Tejas." After the Creoles obtained their independence from the Spanish crown in 1867, spellings which favored the Spanish "j" were replaced by the letter "x" which assumed the symbol of independence.

The use of the letter "x" became so popular that it was used to replace the letter "s" in he spelling of place names of Indian origin. Examples of these changes are found in the names of Tasco, changed to Taxco, and Sochimilco, changed to Xochimilco.

Several of these place names are found in the practice phrases listed below. You may practice them with the recorded voice heard on 276-2762.

Social Security News

Q. I have been told that the social security retirement benefit is based on a person's last five years. Is this correct?

A. No. Your benefit amount is based on your average earnings over a longer period of time. The number of years used to establish this average varies and depends on your year of birth, and on whether you are a man or woman. Your Social Security office will be glad to give you, free of charge, pamphlet number SSI-47, "How to Estimate the Amount" of your social security benefits.

Q. I am a retired military officer. Why should I sign-up for Medicare?

A. Although retired military personnel have certain medical privileges at military and Public Service hospitals, the service is based upon availability of beds and facilities. Also, although payment for medical cost in civilian facilities for military retirees is covered under CHAMPUS, this coverage ceases at age 65 if the retired person is eligible for Medicare protection.

Q. I understand that I can earn as much as $1680 and still get all of my social security benefits. I receive rental income from a home I own. Is this income included in the $1680 allowed?

A. No. The $1680 figure on earnings applies only to income earned from employment or self-employment. Income from rentals, interest, stocks, etc., does not affect your benefits unless you are in the real estate or stock brokerage business.

Q. I draw a wife's benefit and have no work credits under Social Security. Can I qualify for the health insurance when I am 65?

A. Yes. Anyone who qualifies for benefits as the dependent or survivor of an insured worker will qualify for health insurance at age 65 without regard to his own work record.

Q. I plan to apply for social security. I cannot get a birth certificate because my birth was never registered. What do I need to prove my age?

A. Bring with you whatever proof of your age you have at home, such as a Baptismal certificate, a family Bible, an old insurance policy, children's birth certificate, or other records showing your age. We will discuss other possible evidence when you file your claim.

Q. If I am injured while at work and my medical expenses are, or could be, covered by the Workman's Compensation Law, will Medicare also pay?

A. No. Medicare cannot pay for services covered by Workman's Compensation law.

Q. I am a college student receiving monthly checks on my deceased father's social security record. If I work during the summer, will I be able to get my social security checks?

A. It depends on how much you earn in the entire year. If your total earnings for 1969 are $1680 or less, you'll be entitled to all your checks this year. If you earn over $1680, some of your social security checks may be withheld. Check with your local social security office for details.

Q. I don't agree with the Medicare notice recently sent me showing the days of hospital care I used during my illness a few months ago. How do you define a day of hospital care?

A. In reporting days of care for Medicare patients, a day begins at midnight and ends 24 hours later. A part of the day for the day of admission counts as a full day. However, the day of discharge is not counted as a full day.

Q. I am a retired farmer. If I rent out my farm for cash, will the rental income count towards the $1680 I am allowed to make without losing any benefits?

A. No, the rental income will not count toward the $1680 exempt amount unless you help produce the crops grown on this rental land. Your social security office will be glad to give you a complete explanation of when farm rental income affects social security benefits.

Q. I got a flu shot last month because my doctor recommended it. Will Medicare reimburse me for it?

A. No. Routine immunization, such as flu shots, are not a benefit payable under Medicare.

If you have further questions regarding the Social Security Law, contact or write the Social Security Office, 570 North Second st., El Cajon, Ca. 92021. The office is open from 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday and until 7:30 p.m. on Wednesdays. The telephone number is 442-0851.

People do recover from mental illness. With early detection and good care, 75% of hospitalized patients are discharged. Many within a few weeks.

WALKERS EARN DOLLARS — This is the payoff for Lemon Grove Junior High School students who participated in the recent Walk for Development.
The back row of students walked 30 miles. When some students were asked if they were glad to be back sitting and studying in school after their hike, they answered, "No, we'd rather be home in bed."
Actually the walk wasn't all that hard for most, and the cause was worthwhile.

Beachgoers, Take A Note Of This – Return 'Sea Mail' Postcards

Calling all drift card finders —

If you frequent Southern California beaches and other waterfront areas, you may have an opportunity to assist current research by the University of Southern California into the effects of the Santa Barbara channel oil spillage.

Drift cards, used by marine scientists to trace ocean currents, will be released periodically from USC's research vessell, the Velero IV, throughout the Santa Barbara Channel as well as at the site of the Union Oil Co. drilling tower.

In due time the cards, which are the size of a regular postcard, will be washed up on beaches and other waterfront areas.

Persons who find the drift cards are asked to indicate on the cards where and when they were found and then drop them into mail boxes for postage-prepaid delivery to USC. The drift cards are enclosed in waterproof plastic bags which can be discarded after the drift card has been removed.

After the initial release of the cards, subsequent releases will be made weekly for a prolonged period of time, according to Dr. Dale Straughan, director of the USC oil spillage research effort.

"We will continue to release the drift cards for a period of months, in order to trace ocean currents in the area during more than one season of the year," Dr. Straughan said.

"Drift card finders will be of great service to our research, if they will co-operate by seeing that the cards are returned to us."

Several years ago a drift card finder picked up a card at sea, entered on it the location and time he found the card and then dropped it into the water to continue its journey, Dr. Straughan recalls. Fortunately this card was later retrieved on another beach and the two reported positions provided extremely helpful information.

USC's investigation of the oil spillage effects is being financed by a grant from the Western Oil and Gas Association and has been in progress since February 20.

Neighborhood volunteers of the San Diego Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation began a door-to-door campaign to raise $50,000 by May 10. They will wear indentification tags that will read "STRIKE OUT ARTHRITIS."

There are 130,000 arthritis sufferers in the community. John Block, Chairman of the 1969 campaign, said that the chapter office is as near as your telephone. It serves without charge.

Assisting in the local door-to-door campaign are 10,000 marchers. Block urges everyone in the community to welcome their neighbors in the vital crusade against mankind's oldest crippler.

Miguel Cheer Squads Named At Dance

The 1969-'70 cheer squads at Mt. Miguel high school were announced April 25 at a dance sponsored by the cheerleaders and the Weight-Lifting Club.

New varsity cheerleaders are Lynne Bellwood, Laura Binkele, Kim Hansen, Bobbie Ingraham, Dixie Mowery, Candy O'Brien, Barbie Quirk, and Sally Tomlinson. Miss Mowery was selected head cheerleader by the current senior cheerleaders.

Jayvee cheerleaders are Susie Burke, Leslie Carlson, Kathy Horne, Suzy O'Brien, Suzy Putnam, and Linda Rowland.

After working together this summer, the girls will decide among themselves who should be their leader.

Approximately 80 girls tried out for cheerleading positions. Judges — who included cheerleaders from State College and UCSD, as well as a Miguel graduate cheerleader and advisor selected 34 finailist: 19 varsity and 15 jayvee.

Girls practiced after school for three weeks prior to an all-school assembly at which they demonstrated their skills and personalities.

New Book By Wilbur Schramm To Discuss Outdoor Education

(Edit. note: In recent weeks the Review and Bulletin have had stories about students studying in such places as Balboa Park and the Grand Canyon. It often seems to be the case that many schools put so much emphasis on class work and busy work that they rule out one of the best means of learning — actual experience and investigation in the real world. The following story from the May issue of Education Newsletter tells of a forthcoming book, "Classroom Out-of-Doors" by Wilbur Schramm. This book should make interesting reading and help popularize a worthwhile program.)

"Classroom Out-of-Doors" is the title of the book written by Wilbur Schramm on the San Diego City-County Camp Commission's mountain camps where more than 250,000 sixth grade pupils since 1946 have had a week's outdoor education.

Wilbur Schramm, Director, Institute for Communications, Stanford University was commissioned by the W. K. Kellogg Foundation to write the book. The Foundation has made arrangement with Sequoia Press of Kalamazoo, Michigan for the publishing of the book.

It is expected that the book will be available in time for the dedication of the new camp facilities about May 15.

The San Diego City-County Program has been described by the Kellogg Foundation as the largest and best outdoor education program in the nation.

Much more than a camping program, these are camping schools treated as an integral part of a child's studies, and with the transport of the classroom from the city to the forest, efficient facilities and a well-evolved special curriculum inculcate long-retained principales of conservation and good citizenship.

Stock Cars, Powder Puff Event Set For El Cajon Speedway

A capacity crowd is expected to turn out at Cajon Speedway El Cajon, Saturday night as stock car racing gets underway at 8 p.m.

All rain checks from last Saturday's race will be honored this week. More than 5,100 persons were forced to leave the action for the first time in five years last week because of the rains.

He said the track became too slick to race on.

In the racing that was held, Carl Adams of Lemon Grove continued to dominate super stock action as he picked off the trophy dash honors. He then went on to sweep the best time in one of the eight lap heat events.

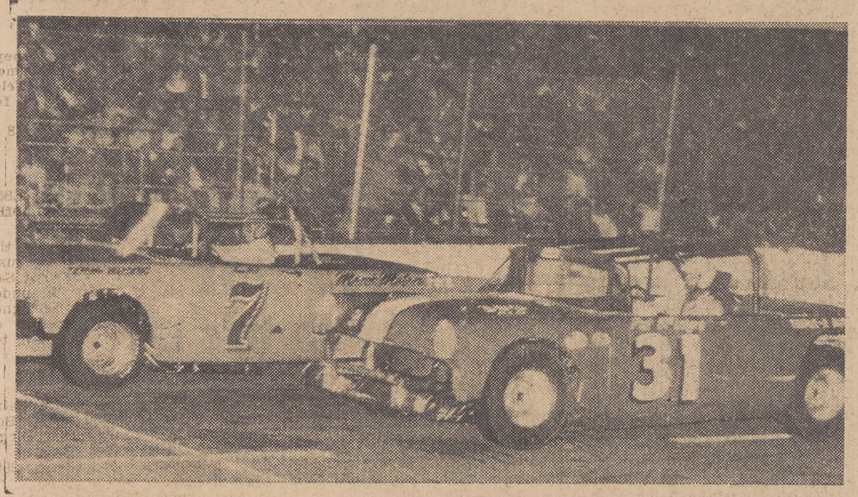
An added attraction will be on tap at the Speedway Saturday night when some 20 women take part in a special Powder Puff competition in both super and limited stock car racing.

Powder Puff Event Set At Speedway

Featured Saturday evening, May 10, along with the Super Stocks at Cajon Speedway, will be the Powder Puff event.

This will be the first of a nine race season for the women. Judi Malone of El Cajon, the racing representative, says there will be a field of twenty cars.

Some of the past favorites will be there: Diana Porter, San Diego; Dot Bridges, El Cajon; and Helen Elliot, El Cajon. Some of the more recent drivers are: Joy Swentkofske, Lake Murray; Mary Webster, La Mesa; and Mary McIntyre, Spring Valley, plus many will be out for their first time.



THE WINNER — No. 7 Jim Hitt of Lemon Grove hits the finish line ahead of No. 31 Pat McIntyre of Spring Valley to take the fast heat for super stocks at Cajon Speedway in El Cajon Valley.

RED CROSS SPEAKER — Spring Valley Rotarians heard the story of the American Red Cross from representative Ed Peck, assistant field director. Peck spoke following a luncheon at Henry Langhorst Restaurant, Spring Valley. Referring to youth as our "backbone," and "future leaders," Peck commended the Rotary on the work it does with young people.

Peck spoke about Red Cross youth programs, and discussed Red Cross's main functions since its establishment in 1905 — serving as a link between family and servicemen, and serving the community in time of distaster.

The international roll of Red Cross was illustrated in a short film, "War In Biafra."

Also included in the Rotary program was a short talk by Rebecca Steinhour, a social worker who told members how the families of the Pueblo crew were helped here in San Diego just prior to the men's return from Korea.

BLOCKS THE BALL — Soccer action last Friday afternoon was hot and heavy for these youngsters at Lemon Grove Park. This action involves the Lemon Grove Hawks and the Lemon Grove Challengers. (Hawks are under 12 years of age and Challengers are under 15 years of age.). A third team playing soccer in the Lemon Grove area is Spring Valley Steel composed of players under 18 years of age.

James W. Rex of 7549 Davidson ave., Lemon Grove is coach of the Challengers and he said members of his team will sell tickets for the U.S. World Cup Soccer Elimination Game to be played May 11 at 2:00 p.m. in San Diego Stadium.

Any profits from this game between the United States and Haiti will help provide soccer equipment and a playing field for a junior soccer team in San Diego county.

LOAN OFFICER — Robert E. Koering of 2718 Bonita st., Lemon Grove has been named to the position of loan officer at SC1stN Bank's Fourth and Laurel Office.

Koering began his banking career with SCFNB in the management development program in 1968.

A native of San Diego, he graduated from Crawford High and received a B.S. degree in management from S.D. State and is a member of the American Institute of Banking.

Ammunition Buyers Need Identification

Hunters and sportsmen need only identify themselves to be able to purchase ammunition under the 1968 Federal gun control law, the Internal Revenue Service said recently.

There are no forms to fill out but a person must show some identification such as a driver's license to indicate he meets th age requirements set forth in the gun law.

The 1968 Gun Control Act limits the sale of ammunition for pistols, revolvers and other handguns to persons 21 years of age and over. Ammunition for rifles and shotguns may be purchased by persons 18 years of age and over.

IRS said that unlike the restrictions on the sale of firearms, a person can buy ammunition outside his home state. Thus, a hunter on a trip or a sportsman attending a shooting match will have no problem obtaining ammunition.

Dealers are required to keep records of ammunition sales including the name and address of the purchaser.

The Federal gun legislation enacted in 1968 was designed to help law enforcement officials at all levels of government fight crime. The legislation was not intended to place unnecessary restrictions on hunters, sportsmen or citizens using firearms for any lawful purposes.

Administration of Federal gun laws is the responsibility of the Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Division of IRS.

Flashing Red Signal Calls for Total Stop

Almost everyone knows what to do when confronted with a normal signalized intersection, at which green, yellow and red lights are successively displayed; however, some drivers become confused about whether a full stop is necessary when they see a traffic signal emitting rapid intermittent red or yellow flashes, Captain V. J. Herz of the San Diego Area office of the California Highway Patrol said.

"Whenever a driver sees a red flashing signal, he must come to a full stop before entering the intersection, whether or not there is a stop sign at that intersection," the Commander said.

"He must yield the right of way to other vehicles which are in the intersection or approaching so close as to be an immediate hazard, and he must continue to yield until he can proceed with reasonable safety," he added.

"A flashing yellow signal indicates that drivers may proceed through the intersection or past the signal only with caution," he explained. "A full stop is not necessary, but a careful approach to the intersection and scrutiny of the situation is required."

Van Deerlin Asks Feds To Aid Overburdened Calif. Taxpayers

WASHINGTON — Legislation to ease a new burden on California taxpayers is being co-sponsored by Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-San Diego.

The bill was offered by Van Deerlin and 18 other Congressmen in response to a Supreme Court ruling recently overturning state residency requirements for public assistance.

The measure would work by requiring full federal financing of additional welfare payments caused by the decision. Van Deerlin was advised by state budget officials that the action would initially cost Californians an extra $18 million a year in county and state taxes. (Governor Reagan has set the figure even higher; at a press conference last week, he estimated the additional costs at $26 million in the current fiscal year, and $35 million next year.)

"It is clearly incumbent on the federal government to relieve California of the costs stemming directly from federal court decisions," Van Deerlin said.

"It is also clear that under the legislation we are proposing, California will come out ahead of most other states, since the influx of people in all financial brackets is so much greater in our state."

In February, the most recent month for which complete persons were on welfare throughout California. Within San Diego County, the total was 60,644. More than half the recipients qualified under one program, aid to families with dependent children.

Van Deerlin said that permanent abolishment of the residency regulations probably will add about $1 million a year to state and local tax bills in the San Diego area. He pointed out that welfare programs are supported by a combination of county, state and federal taxes.

In California, welfare residency requirements have ranged downward from five years for old age assistance to none for aid to the blind. To qualify for dependent children aid, a prospective recipient must, under existing state law, have lived in California for at least a year.

However, California's residency rules have been in a judicial limbo since April, 1968, when a federal court in San Francisco issued a temporary injunction suspending the requirements. The state appealed the action, but the high court's finding last week in the similar residency case makes reversal of the San Francisco order unlikely.

TAKES TOP HONOR — Lemon Grove resident Mrs. Preston Huey accepts the Maryland Retirement Hotel's Outstanding Senior Citizen of the Year award from manager Joseph Barrett (right) as owner Harvey M. Miller looks on. Mrs. Huey was named the award's third annual recipient for her devotion to the cause of bringing enjoyment to her fellow active retired as well as the less fortunate.

Attempted Robbery

Hughes and the bus driver and the contents of the box fell to the floor.

Hughes fled the area and was arrested later at his home, then located at 114 S. Ozark st.

Hughes also had been charged with burglarizing a barbecue restaurant at 3089 Imperial ave. the same day as the attempted robbery, March 19, but the charge was dismissed.

Outdoors Panel Is F&G Program

Every phase of camping, ranging from useful equipment hints to how to prevent becoming lost, will come up for discussion tonight when the San Diego County Fish and Game Association holds its monthly meeting in the Balboa Park War Memorial Building, starting at 7:30.

The program will embrace two divisions, both of which should be of especial interest to either the novice or experienced camper.

Lewie Freymann will moderate a panel discussion which will touch every base. Included in the group of experts will be: Stan Stevenson, Cleveland National Forest Supervisor; Cletus (Biff) Gardner, S.D. County Parks and Recreation Department; Frank Crossfield, State Forestry, and Frank Bellinghausen, State Department of Parks and Recreation.

Also sharing the spotlight will be an hour long demonstration of rescue tactics employed by the San Diego Mountain Rescue Team. Mrs. Clark McCoy, secretary of the organization, says that the demonstration will be illustrated by color slides and narration. Preventive measures, which if employed will make all mountain outings safer, also will be detailed.

The entertainment program also will include two movies of interest to the sportsman. One will be "The Many Faces of Mexico" and the other is "Arctic Goose Hunt," with a prologue by Ducks Unlimited.

The public is invited, says Lee Rodwell, Associated president.

SDG&E Earnings Up

SAN DIEGO — First quarter earnings of the San Diego Gas & Electric Company were 59.4 cents per share of common stock, J. E. Sinnott, compay presiden, told shareholders at their annual meeting here.

The earnings represent a 13 percent increase over the 52½ cents per share reported for the first quarter last year. The 52½ cents figure reflects the stock split approved at the last annual meeting.

Assuming that normal weather prevails, per share earnings for the year should be between $1.67 and $1.77, Sinnott said.

Schools Protest Hookup Bill As Water District Dissolves

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — The dissolution of the La Presa County Water District was approved on Tuesday by the Local Agency Formation Commission over the objection of the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District.

The district thinks that the nearly $149,000 bill for connecting the La Presa Junior High School to water lines south of Jamacha blvd. is too high.

The district also thinks that when Otay Municipal Water District takes over the policy function of La Presa, the district will not benefit because of a change in laws concerning county vs. municipal water districts.

Barney Lance explained the LM-SV position to the board.

Deputy County Counsel Don Clark said that the law gives municipal water district "rather clear" powers to set special rates for water for agencies that are not taxable on an ad valorem basis.

Otay, he said, has been involved in similar disputes with about other schools.

The Otay district delivers water and the Spring Valley Sanitation District furnishes public santitation service for La Presa territory.

Clark said the school district-water district dispute could end up in court. Clark normally handles school district legal matters, but in this case was representing the commission.

'Coffee for MS' Project Planned

"Drink a cup of coffee for MS will be the theme of the San Diego Area Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society on Mother's Day, May 11," said Wally Pitchford, chairman of the Restaurant Committee for the Chapter.

Mr. Pitchford, sales manager for the Le Baron Hotel said hopefully, "that all restaurants, hotels and wherever coffee is sold by the cup are being urged to donate the 'coffee procteds' on Mother's Day, or any other day they choose, to help in the fight against Multiple Sclerosis, the great crippler of young adults, this donation to be in honor of the several hundred mothers in the county who are stricken with this dread disease.

"The local Chapter opens its annual campaign on Mother's Day, May 11th, and will continue through Father's Day, June 15." MS usually strikes young adults between the ages of 20 and 40," Pitchford said, thus the emphasis placed between these two holidays.

The target goal financially this year is $75,000 which is needed to provide patient care and research for over 3,000 victims of MS and related diseases in the County.

Business opportunities offering high potential income for a comparatively small investment should be viewed with caution, suggests the Better Business Bureau. Advertised income claims should be based on audited figures available to prospective investors. If in doubt, check with the BBB at 1608 Fourth ave., San Diego.
